Caroline Goff

Campbell House Museum

My name is Caroline Goff and I held an internship at the Campbell House Museum in the fall semester of 2018. My experience at the Campbell House Museum was amazing. During my time there, I would give tours, set up for different holidays, and assist during events at the home. I was exposed to the daily routine of museum work, giving me a better idea of what that would entail if I chose to go down that path later in life. Additionally, it opened me up to new history about St. Louis during the mid-nineteenth century that I was not aware of before my time at the museum. I would recommend an internship to anyone interested in expanding their professional knowledge in the St. Louis area. The entire team at the museum was so approachable and helpful during my time there as well as when I wrote my final project for them
